NOTE 1: Breeds highlighted in bold are breeds that are currently registered in Australia.

NOTE 2: Breeds highlighted with an asterisk () at the end of their names are FCI recognised breeds.*

Breed Standards for FCI breeds which are not in Australia can be accessed from the FCI website breed standards page at: <http://www.fci.be/en/Nomenclature>

If as a consequence of the ANKC recognition of all the breeds recognised by the FCI on a definitive basis, a particular breed wants to split into varieties then it needs to apply to ANKC through its National Breed Council (NBC), if there is not a NBC for the breed, then by a breed club through a Member Body. ANKC will not be arbitrarily splitting breeds into varieties as it believes that choice should be left to the breed owners. Not all breeds want to go in that direction.
