IN BRIEF

Scouts marking ability and memory are second to none, many have experienced the joy of watching him often pick up all three birds of a triple mark without a command. His performance in the first run of the 2012 National was exemplary a tough triple mark, whilst most of the field struggled, Scout “nailed” all three and set the scene for a great win.

Scout was a consistent performer in all States of Australia and all types of terrain a courageous Dog who tackled any obstacle in front of him. Mark has mentioned to me on more than one occasion that he rates him highly as one of the best dogs he had the pleasure of training.

Not only does Scout have an excellent retrieving and hunting ability he also has a wonderful temperament and sound DNA qualities. This reflects in the fact that his progeny is well sought after in both the retrieving, hunting and home environments.

Scout is a true testament of the working gundog retriever and this has been echoed in the wins, accolades and acknowledgements that he has received throughout his career. Not in has his National and State Championship achievements reflected his outstanding ability but also the acknowledgement received from 3 Certificates of Merit further solidified his true talent.

Scout exemplifies all that we as gundog handlers wish for in our own gundogs and as such I believe that it is only fitting that he be awarded with the honour of being inducted into the Hall of Fame. Although Scout has now retired from the sport, it was a true pleasure to watch Scout perform in the field.

Yours Sincerely

Sandy Smith
